$Opsec V2 Migration Update: Our team is diligently compiling a comprehensive overview of token distribution and transactions during and after the breach. This involves developing a script and processing extensive data for a thorough understanding beyond a simple snapshot. Once all data is gathered and analyzed, it will be transparently shared with the community. We have completed the stakers' data and vestments, and the CEXs typeform is progressing well. We will crosscheck addresses promptly to be ready for launch.

We understand this incident has caused significant concern within the community, but rest assured, the team is working around the clock to ensure a smooth transition to $Opsec V2.

For any further questions, please reach out to the moderators on our official Telegram channel t.me/OpSecCloud who are available around the clock to assist you.
